STORY OF HOPE

Growing up, Alexis experienced learning disabilities that kept her from graduating high school. Without a diploma, she faced a long struggle with unemployment and homelessness. As a single mother of three, she found it hard to provide for and care for her family. She reached out to The Salvation Army of Southern Indiana for help. Alexis began working with a case manager through The Salvation Army's Pathway of Hope Program. Through this program, Alexis was able to begin to break the generational bonds of poverty. With support from United Way, and other providers in the area, Alexis was able to earn her high school diploma, have a safe place to live, and care for her children. Today, Alexis is pursuing a career in nursing after earning her nursing assistant certification (CNA). Because of hard work, excellent case work through Pathway of Hope, and other community partners, Alexis has moved her three children into a stable home, learned communication and cooking skills, and is well on her way to self-sufficiency.
